Over the M bius

The transnational coalition called "Synergy Institution" has projected human exploration to Mars.

In considering a long flight makes astronauts seriously stressed, a preliminary experiment was conducted.

To probe into the health and psychology of those who stayed for several years in such a space as the fully mechanically-controlled lunar experiment plant being completely isolated from the outer world.

This story is based on the experiment actually conducted by NASA in 1984, which was ultimately forced to terminate in the light of inhumanity.
